

Shake Loose Leaves for Family Trees

Camden County Public Library is working to expand its genealogy and local history collection. We are offering the opportunity for county residents to help achieve this goal by:

Donating a copy of

Three Hundred Years Along the Pasquotank; A Biographical History of Camden County, North Carolina

Published in 1957, written by Jesse Forbes Pugh, Three Hundred Years
Along the Pasquotank still stands as the most comprehensive history of Camden County ever to exist.

Providing copies of family records, including family Bibles.

The library hopes to make copies of family records, including family trees in Bibles, to put into print and digital archives.

Residents can

- Bring copies they have made themselves
- Bring in books or papers to have copies made at the library
- Take pictures of the information and email to camdenlibrarian@earlibrary.org
